All part of its new “Luxury of More” programming, the brand will additionally feature new activities, theme cruises and itineraries.

“Innovation is at the forefront of our business and we’re always challenging our teams to think about ‘what’s next’ in terms of services, itineraries and ship design,” said Kristin Karst, executive vice president and co-owner of AmaWaterways, in a press release.

“We can’t wait to see the fruits of our labor and innovation enjoyed by our friends, family and guests!”

The European fleet expansion will mark the line’s single largest since the company first began in 2002. As previously revealed, the AmaMagna will be a nearly double-wide riverboat scheduled for the Danube river.

The extra space will allow for most cabins to feature 355 square feet or more of private guest living area while still only accommodating 196 passengers. Occupants will additionally enjoy several dining opportunities such as an al fresco restaurant, as well as more activities and entertainment.

“Research has shown that many ocean cruisers and active travelers have yet to experience river cruising because they thought the staterooms were too small, or the dining options and activities too limited. We owner of AmaWaterways, in the release.

“I’ve had this unique ship on my mind for many years and am confident that now is the time to introduce my vision. I can’t wait to see AmaMagna sailing the Danube in 2019.”

The ship is not entirely dissimilar to Crystal Cruises’ Crystal Mozart in scale. However, unlike that dramatically redesigned existing vessel, the AmaMagna will be a complete new-build.

What’s more, the AmaLea and AmaKristina will welcome a new sister-ship in 2019: the AmaMora along the Rhine river. Plus, the AmaDouro will set sail on the Douro river as a new counterpart to the current AmaVida.

AmaWaterways guests can expect the line’s Wellness Program in 2019, which will then be showcased onboard the majority of its European ships. Morning stretches, yoga, cardio/core strengthening, resistance band workouts, circuit training and relaxation techniques will be paired with healthy dining options.

Theme cruises will also expand with 60 hosted Wine Cruises—the most ever offered by the line—in 2019. New and Old-World viticulture will be on full display as several top North American winemakers showcase European vintages and regions.

As for itineraries themselves, river cruises will be augmented with enhanced land programs. Every sailing will provide an optional two- or three-night pre-

New itineraries in Bilbao and San Sebastian, Spain, as well as a post-cruise opportunity in Rwanda, Africa are on the way. In the latter, passengers can see Kigali and Volcanoes National Park and Silverback Mountain Gorillas and Golden Monkeys, for example.

Complimentary shore excursions will also be bolstered in 2019 with extra choices such as ones in Prague, Paris and Romania.

“As we move towards 2019, we have continued to evolve our product to ensure guests experience the ‘Luxury of More’ when sailing with AmaWaterways,” added Karst. “Whether it’s the new ships, excursions or special theme cruises, we are confident that 2019 will be our best year yet!”
